

GROCERIES.
Arter & Stewart
(Successors to D. Arter & Co.)
GROCERS
—AND—
Commission Merchants
No. 113 Commercial Avenue.
CAIRO, ILLS.

Bristol & Stilwell,
FAMILY
GROCERS

Keep everything pertaining to the line of Staple and Fancy Groceries, Woodenware, Vegetables,
Fruits, &c., &c.

Bass and Injuber
BAWLS FOR BUOYS
HARMONEKAZE,
Fischeing Tackle.

Agget and Opal
MARBELLS,
Beile and Iurn bounde
Roaling Whoops
For Boize and Gurlz.

Jumping Roaps,
Vealloscipeads,
Krowkay Cets,
CHEEPE.

A Horse for Sale.

No. 32 EIGHT STREET
CAIRO ILL.

VARIETY STORE
New-York Store

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL
Largest
VARIETY STOCK
IN THE CITY.

Goods Sold Very Close,
Corner 19th St. and Commercial Ave.

CAIRO, ILLINOIS

C. O. PATIER & CO.
PAINT AND OILS.

B. F. PARKER,
Dealer in
Paints, Oils, Varnishes,

BRUSHES.
Wall Paper, Window Glass, Widow Shades, &c.

Stocks on hand, the celebrated illuminating
AURORA OIL.

BROS' Building.
Corner Eleventh Street and Washington Avenue

CAIRO CITY BINDERY,
J. C. HUELS.
PROPRIETOR.

BINDER AND BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURER.

bulletin Building, Corner Twelfth Street and Washington Avenue.

Cairo, Illinois.

County and Railroad Work a specialty.

VOL. 7.

CAIRO, ILLINOIS, SATURDAY, MAY 8, 1875.

NO. 119.

The Bulletin.

MR. WILSON IN KENTUCKY.

Details of the Vice President's Visit to the State Capitol and at Lexington.

(Frankfort, Kentucky, May 5.)

Hon. Henry Wilson, of Massachusetts, vice president of the United States, arrived in this city last Saturday morning from the west, from Louisville. He was accompanied by Col. Stoddard Johnson, whose guest he became while sojourning here. After taking a short drive around the city, during which he expressed himself quite charmed with the picture-like qualities and surroundings of Kentucky's capital, the vice president was set down at the residence of Col. Johnson at South Frankfort, where a reception was given him at 11 o'clock until 1 p.m. During that time he was called upon by Governor Leslie, and many others, including most of the leading citizens of Frankfort and the vicinity who called to pay their respects to the second officer of the government of the United States, when he replied, "I am deeply impressed by the kind and intense hostility to the third term movement, have commended him to the respect and esteem of right-thinking men everywhere."

It was understood that Mr. Wilson, being at Louisville, en route to San Francisco and California, and bearing of the pebble health of Gen. Breckinridge, had determined to turn aside from his journey and devote a day or two to paying him a visit at his home in Lexington.

General Breckinridge, as Vice President under Mr. Buchanan, presided in the Senate for several years after Mr. Wilson first entered that body; and, during that time, as also during the first months of Mr. Lincoln's Administration, when Gen. Breckinridge served as Senator from Kentucky, a pleasant and friendly acquaintance had existed between them. According to 2 to 3, Vice-President Wilson's companion Col. Johnson entered a close carriage—the weather being quite threatening and stormy—and proceeded to Lexington.

It not being a propitious day for visiting any of the stock farms, as was proposed, the only halt made was at Spring Hill, the residence of Mrs. W. P. Hart, near Versailles, where Mr. Wilson was received with the characteristic hospitality of the charming hostess. The stay was necessarily brief, the trip being timed so as to reach Lexington before dark. Arriving there safely, Mr. Wilson became the guest of Gen. Wm. Preston, who had met him in Louisville and extended the invitation to him. On Saturday night there was a reception, when a large number of the leading gentlemen of Lexington paid their respects to Mr. Wilson. On Sunday, Vice-President attended services at Versailles, where Bishop Dudley, lately elected Assistant Bishop of this diocese, presided. The sermon was an eloquent one, and proved to be a highly appropriate text, in view of the presence of Mr. Wilson on his tour of observation so far from home. It was the 46th verse of the 1st chapter of John: "And Nathaniel said unto him, can there any good thing come out of Nazareth?" Philip saith unto him, come and see.

Returning from church, Mr. Wilson, in company with Gen. Preston and Col. Johnson, called on General Breckinridge, with whom they found Mr. Beck and Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge. The meeting between the two distinguished gentlemen was very cordial, and with all its surroundings presents an incident of touching historic interest. The first greeting being over, they engaged in conversation for a half hour or more, when, after an equal interval of general conversation, the visitors left.

A young sister, who had been reading the trial (turning to rich old blusher under) and object, the question is "leading."

Father—"I insist upon an answer, yes or no, and will put the question in another form." Was there any intimation of the lips?"

Julia (with deliberation)—"A friend." Father—"How long did he stay?" Julia—"I don't remember." Father—"What is his name?" Julia—"I can't recollect." Father—"Where does he live?" Julia (quicker)—"He's moved." Father (reprovingly)—"Don't answer me that evasive manner. Did he kiss you before leaving?"

A young sister, who had been reading the trial (turning to rich old blusher under) and object, the question is "leading."

Father—"I insist upon an answer, yes or no, and will put the question in another form." Was there any intimation of the lips?"

Julia (absentmindedly)—"My memory fails me in matters of detail, although, with a pause, there might have been something of the kind."

At this point the breakfast ended.—
R. L. Ayres, 4-11-65.

The False and the True.
As they entered a dry goods store yesterday, you would have said that love dwelt in both hearts, and that a dove of peace roosted on every shingle on the roof of their abiding place. She saw a lovely dress, and she begged him to buy it, but he replied:

"I can't, darling; not before next week."

"Can't you, dear?" she smiled. "Well, I will wait."

They had hardly passed the door before he said:

"I'd like to see myself getting that dress."

And she answered:

"You couldn't buy one size of it, and if you could you are too stingy and mean to do it."—D. L. Fox, 4-11-65.

Consumption.

The source of the human family, may in its early stages be promptly arrested and permanently cured.

RAVENSWOOD, W. Va.

Dr. R. V. PEIRCE, Buffalo, N. Y.:

Sir—For the past year I have been using your Golden Medical Discovery, I owe my life to it, having been afflicted for years. But not only but a man of little means, I was not able at that time I was very bad, not able to sit up in bed, was suffering greatly with my throat, was getting blind, had a dry cough, and much pain in my lungs. I have used twelve bottles of the Discovery and am almost well.

KATE T. WARDNER.

A son of Mr. J. H. MESHKE, of Chatham Four Corners, N. Y., has been cured of Consumption by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—so says Mr. B. C. Caulfield, of the New York Courier.

S. H. LEWIS, of New York, writes to state that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has effected a wonderful cure of Consumption in his neighborhood.

JNO. S. MILLER, 101 BROADWAY.

ST. LOUIS INSURANCE BUREAU

And Collecting Agency

OF

HARSH TREATMENT OF YOUNG GIRLS.

(Philadelphia Times, April 29.)

In the dock at the Central yesterday was a shameful sight. Eight among thieves, and beside a woman whose voice it is a shame even to hint at, were placed by Sergeant Buchanan three young girls, respectable and honest in appearance, and utterly unworthy of the indignity visited upon them by placing them within a enclosure intended only for cattle, when there had been a strike at Campbell's mills, and these young girls, who have worked there and were among the strikers, had it was alleged, pursued with reproaches several young women who, originally in the strike, returned to work; and the technical charge against the prisoners was inciting to riot—perhaps technically true, but one that would be thrown out of court if ever attempted to be tried. The hearing yesterday resulted in two of these young girls being held for trial, and they were marched down stairs in custody to await trial, as were the viles who occupied the dock. There was one of them in the face of an angel. Never was there so bright, so sweet, a cheek, so shaming, a smile so winsome, a laugh so full of life, as that of this fair young girl. And yet, this lovely young girl, so young, and her eye alighted with the beauty of innocence, was subjected to the foul indignity of the Central Station dock, the grasp of policemen and the vile confines of the subterranean dungeons. She was only a mill-hand, she and her friends choosing to work honestly and laboriously for their livelihood, and, therefore, she and they must be placed in the dock, while painted harlots are shielded, when arrested, from the public gaze.

Industrial and Statistical.

In 1872 Prussia raised 32,347,360 tons of coal.

A large pineapple crop is predicted for Florida this year.

The largest maple sugar manufacturer in Vermont annually raps 3,350 trees.

During 1874 Cuba exported 641,100 tons of sugar, of which the United States received 505,294.

The French Government had an income of 12,000,000 francs last year from the tax upon successions to property, about four times its average income from this source.

It is estimated that the New York liquor saloons pay half a million dollars annually to the city, and take in fifty-one millions of coal.

The Titusville Gas says that the total shipments of oil amount to 39,000 barrels, and the average daily production to 23,000 barrels.

In the ten years from 1861 to 1874, inclusive, 2,748 locomotives were made in three of the principal establishments at Patterson, N. J., the largest number furnished in one year being 398 in 1873. Last year only 197 were turned out in three shops.

A physician who has been inquiring into the statistics of infantile narcosis with Winslow's soothing syrup, states that the sale of this dangerous nostrum annually disseminates 15,000,000 grains of morphine among our nurseries.

Effects of the Trial.

"Cross-examinations" are now of daily occurrence in Brooklyn families. For instance, the other day, at the breakfast table of a well-known resident of Pierrepont street the following colloquy took place:

"Poor families, in a stormy voice, to a pretty daughter, aged twenty, 'Julia, who was that young man that was here last night?'"

"Julia (with deliberation)—'A friend.' Father—"How long did he stay?"

"Julia—"I don't remember."

"Father—"What is his name?"

"Julia—"I can't recollect."

"Father—"Where does he live?"

"Julia (quicker)—"He's moved."

"Father (reprovingly)—"Don't answer me that evasive manner. Did he kiss you before leaving?"

A young sister, who had been reading the trial (turning to rich old blusher under) and object, the question is "leading."

Father—"I insist upon an answer, yes or no, and will put the question in another form." Was there any intimation of the lips?"

Julia (absentmindedly)—"My memory fails me in matters of detail, although, with a pause, there might have been something of the kind."

At this point the breakfast ended.—

R. L. Ayres, 4-11-65.

The False and the True.

As they entered a dry goods store yesterday, you would have said that love dwelt in both hearts, and that a dove of peace roosted on every shingle on the roof of their abiding place. She saw a lovely dress, and she begged him to buy it, but he replied:

"I can't, darling; not before next week."

"Can't you, dear?" she smiled. "Well, I will wait."

They had hardly passed the door before he said:

"I'd like to see myself getting that dress."

And she answered:

"You couldn't buy one size of it, and if you could you are too stingy and mean to do it."—D. L. Fox, 4-11-65.

Consumption.

The source of the human family, may in its early stages be promptly arrested and permanently cured.

RAVENSWOOD, W. Va.

Dr. R. V. PEIRCE, Buffalo, N. Y.:

Sir—For the past year I have been using your Golden Medical Discovery, I owe my life to it, having been afflicted for years.

But not only but a man of little means,

I was not able at that time I was very bad,

not able to sit up in bed, was suffering greatly with my throat, was getting blind, had a dry cough, and much pain in my lungs. I have used twelve bottles of the Discovery and am almost well.

KATE T. WARDNER.

A son of Mr. J. H. MESHKE, of Chatham

Four Corners, N. Y., has been cured of Consumption by Dr. Pierce's Golden

Medical Discovery—so says Mr. B. C. Caulfield, of the New York Courier.

S. H. LEWIS, of New York, writes to state that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has effected a wonderful cure of Consumption in his neighborhood.

JNO. S. MILLER, 101 BROADWAY.

ST. LOUIS INSURANCE BUREAU

And Collecting Agency

OF

HARSH TREATMENT OF YOUNG GIRLS.

(Philadelphia Times, April 29.)

In the dock at the Central yesterday was a shameful sight. Eight among thieves, and beside a woman whose voice</p